Course Description

Incidents that involve technical rescue of animals require special considerations and knowledge. This training is provided through both hands-on and classroom instruction. This ASAR class focuses on technical swiftwater rescue skills compliant with both NFPA 1670 Ch. 17 standards and NFPA 1006 standards. Instructors provide animal search and rescue training for animal control officers, humane responders, and first responders working in disaster or technical rescue situations. This course includes: ropes, knots, mechanical advantage, anchor systems, water rescue operations, restraint /handling, and rescue techniques for a variety of situations.

Training will start the first day at 8am at the Justice Center. The second and third days will be at Worlds of Fun in Kansas City, MO. Lunch will be on your own each day. Sack lunches encouraged day 2 and 3. Coolers will be provided.
